You've Seen One Hypnotist,
You've Seen Them All... UNTIL NOW!

Dan Lornitis is a first class entertainer, having performed more than 4000 live shows nationwide, including corporate events for global companies such as Mercedes Benz, Sprint, 3M, United Airlines, Motorola, John Deere, Best Buy, and many others.

Dan entertains by transforming your employees or attendees into a hilarious cast of stars that will leave the audience rolling in the aisles. He can promote your meetings theme or business message, by weaving it into the show—creating powerful team-building sessions, training events, and more.

Imagine your co-worker becoming "the world's greatest motivational speaker." Or your top salesperson forgetting his or her own first name. Or a team member who speaks only in Martian, while another team member translates everything for the audience.

Best of all, Dan's presentation is all in good fun. No one—either onstage or in the audience—is ever made to feel uncomfortable or behave inappropriately.

Dan combines the 'power of suggestion' with the volunteers own creativity—making the perfect formula for an unforgettable experience!
